Be a Happier Parent with NLP: A Teach Yourself Guide by ... Special Guest: KJ Dell'Antonia. Well, here's some troubling news. For many years, research has shown that non-parents are happier than parents. In today's world where many parents are often shuttling kids from one destination to another, coping with high anxiety around school, sports, college, their children's friends, their children's interests, screen time, keeping their children ...

How to Be a Happier Parent with KJ Dell'Antonia ... KJ's tip to all parents: remember that you are not raising perfect children, but rather, you are raising future adults. The four main things that happier parents do differently are: Shift from heavy involvement when kids are young, to giving them more independence as they grow. Don't put their children's everyday needs above their own.

How to be a happier parent, even when school's back in ... To be a happier person, try to adjust your attitude by appreciating the big and the little things in life. For example, say "Thank you" more often or keep a gratitude journal. Alternatively, pay attention to any sights, sounds, or smells around you, since this will refocus your mind on the present moment instead of on the past or the future.

12 Ways to Be a Happier Person - wikiHow Here's a special treat for you! I recently read a newly-released book, Be a Happier Parent or Laugh Trying. The author, Betsy Kerekes, happens to be a homeschooling mom who has learned, (and I quote her) "If you don't laugh, you cry, but laughing is more fun." Isn't that the truth! Here's the interview I had with her for Mercatornet. I'm sure you'll appreciate her stories, humor, and her great perspective on dealing with parenting calamities.

How to be a Happier Parent -- Mercy for Marthas A happier parent starts by being a happier person. It's not just okay to put yourself first—it's essential. For every parenting decision you make, you need to be a key part of the equation. It's not just a question of is this the best daycare or school for my child? It's equally a question of how will the commute to this daycare or school ...
