As a college professor, the town respected him. As a husband who could not pay his way - his wife despised him. As Peter Waring said bitterly after she walked out on him, "Maybe I'm a college teacher - but damn it all, I'm also a man! I want to live like a man . . . love like a man . . ." Yet how could he? Like most faculty members, he had to burn the midnight oil doing extra assignments to improve his lot in the world. For although his wife was rich, she wanted Peter to pay - or to play! When a college campus is rocked by violent revolt, it isn't always the students who are to blame. In this case, it started with Viviam Temple, a highly respectable English teacher - whose husband could no longer satisfy her erotic appetites. It spread quickly to Eric Bentley, another normally staid member of the faculty, who knew a good thing when he saw it - and saw Vivian at her naked best. Then it touched Barry Holmes, an A student who just happened to like doing nude studies instead of his homework!

This journal records the Civil War experiences of a sensitive, well-educated, young southern woman. Kate Stone was twenty when the war began, living with her widowed mother, five brothers, and younger sister at Brokenburn, their plantation home in northeastern Louisiana. When Grant moved against Vicksburg, the family fled before the invading armies, eventually found refuge in Texas, and finally returned to a devastated home. Kate began her journal in May, 1861, and made regular entries up to November, 1865. She included briefer sketches in 1867 and 1868. In chronicling her everyday activities, Kate reveals much about a way of life that is no more: books read, plantation management and crops, maintaining slaves in the antebellum period, the attitude and conduct of slaves during the war, the fate of refugees, and civilian morale. Without pretense and with almost photographic clarity, she portrays the South during its darkest hours.
