Hunza Longevity True or Hoax? Some people think that Hunza's longevity is a hoax because Hunza people do not keep records and there is no birth certificate to prove their age. Dr. John Clark, who spent 20 months writing his Book - The Lost Kingdom of the Himalayas, said that Hunza people are also suffered from malaria, dysentery, and many other diseases.

The Hunza incorporate perceived wisdom into one's age in addition to the actual number of years they've been on the planet - one explanation for their alleged longevity. But there's another interesting story that may have something to do with their rumored vivacity found in the popular 1930s film, Lost Horizon.

~~Hunzas — Wikipedia~~

The Hunza have lived in the area since the times of Alexander the Great and their feats of physical endurance have made them famous warriors and assassins. The Hunza Valley's natural beauty and the long lifespan of its inhabitants have led to rumors that this is the site of the long-lost kingdom of Shangri-La.
