And, of course, they will be able to name the parts if that is what is required. Fun games will focus first on helping children hear the difference various types of grammar can make followed by activities to help them understand what different effects you can create with grammar. Technical terms will only be introduced once the children have established what the various features can do, with a particular focus on those terms that really help children discuss what makes language coherent and effective.

While redesigning an old grammar book, Dr. Paul R. Friesen made it into a 3-D experience. "The challenge was to create a book that achieved three goals. The first was to strengthen the weaknesses I found in Korean students' writing. The second was to provide teachers with a better system to teach grammar. The third was to create a system through which a student would gain confidence to speak." He says 3-D teaching is not a commonly taught methodology, but it has been tested, and its effectiveness has
