Henry James’s“The Art of Fiction” Why is it revolutionary? 1. Choice of subject belongs to the artist without restriction. We must grant the artist his subject, his idea, his donnée; our criticism is applied only to what he makes of it. (561) 2. Conscious artistry and treatment of the subject is the key. Art is essentially selection. (563).

The Art of Fiction, critical essay by Henry James, published in 1884 in Longman’s Magazine. It was written as a rebuttal to “ Fiction as One of the Fine Arts,” a lecture given by Sir Walter Besant in 1884, and is a manifesto of literary realism that decries the popular demand for novels that are saturated with sentimentality or pessimism. It was published separately in 1885.

In The Art of Fiction, John Gardner explains what it takes for a writer to create great fiction; it takes lots of hard work, advice that is more helpful than reading manuals that set unrealistic expectations through vacuous cheer leading. On a practical note, Gardner describes common mistakes and advises the writer on how to avoid them.

The planning notes seem to illustrate to perfection the two great principles of naturalist fiction enunciated in Le Roman expérimental: observation (as in the Notes) and experimentation (as in the Outline, in which the story is invented). The development of the work seems to coincide with the substance of the theory.
